PRINCETON OPENS HER HEART AND HER HOMES

"Oh, This is the Day we give Babies Away with a Half a Pound of Tea".

And Princeton gives way today to her stored-up enthusiasm for everything good... and there is an abundance, within this fine community.

Festive hearts are full of that gala spirit which reflects the old hospitality of the folk of the Black Patch.

Every latchstring hangs outside, or has been disconnected for this week... Homes are open to visitors from far and near... old residents who have, for one reason or another, lived somewhere else for a generation or more have come back home—the Old Kentucky Home down in West Kentucky, where folk of the Pennyriple and the Purchase delight to know one another and to share their joys.

Fourth of our annual Dark Tobacco Festivals, with its parades and its horse shows, its quilting contest, its dances, shows and continual round of gaiety, the celebration which starts today after a full year's thoughtful preparation will rank high among such events in all Kentucky, set a standard for other good communities, afford an excellent means of spreading the fame of this town and county for real and homely hospitality... make many visitors welcome the chance to come back to Princeton often, and again.

For there is something planned to please and delight every visitor, as well as home folk; good entertainment, back-to-the-soil competitions which are reminiscent of the good old county fair days, when people met and enjoyed themselves in the good old-fashioned way which the Festival here has, in large measure and delightful manner, done much to revive.

Welcome signs are everywhere in Princeton today and the good people of this community are a-tiptoe to make the stay of every visitor pleasant, profitable and highly enjoyable.

All Hail, the Festival! Come be with us and we will be gay!

ABOUT LOCAL ADVERTISING

Princeton advertisers, who do business in a highly competitive advertising field, no doubt are in something of a quandary about how to spend their budgeted (or otherwise) advertising dollars.

It would be very surprising if this were not true.

The smartest executives of the largest business enterprises are continually studying the problem of advertising... hiring high-powered experts to investigate and to advise them which medium will produce maximum results for their particular plant or store, at lowest cost.

And this is the way advertising should be done, for maximum efficiency.

Long since, virtually every American concern of any size or vision has placed its principal advertising dependence in newspapers. Frequently recurring news of additional appropriations for space in newspapers is ample proof of this.

Which brings us down to local cases: If it is good business for large concerns to carefully ascertain where their advertising messages will do the most good, it is just as important... perhaps even more so, for smaller folk to do likewise.

The Leader seeks to offer a superior advertising medium in its field by faithfully performing the FIRST duty of a newspaper worthy the name... by being FIRST, last and all the time the best news medium in its field, the most interesting to the people in its territory who can and do read.

Reader interest is a newspaper's GREATEST ASSET, not the number of inches of paid advertising it may carry from week to week.

For, unless a newspaper has HIGH READER INTEREST, it is not a good advertising medium.

The present editor of the Leader has had long experience in the newspaper business, an experience which has taught the lesson above referred to is fundamentally sound.

It is important to every business concern in Princeton, especially so to those which seek to progress and to prosper, that serious attention be paid to where advertising dollars go... and what happens as a result.

Upon the basis of giving maximum value in return for advertising money invested here, the Leader solicits... and believes it deserves, your patronage.

SCHOOL BUTTER!

Even with Festival sights and sounds delighting the souls of young folk, the knell-like sound (to juvenile ears) of the school bell soon will ring out summoning children of Princeton back to classrooms.

And then, the old, old problems which tax the ingenuity and the patience of teachers and parents alike again will assume those forbidding aspects which cause many such to quail.

Princeton is, of course, fortunate in her schools; for as compared with many towns of like size, she ranks high both in teaching personnel and physical equipment. The health of this community likewise is something we all may take a justifiable pride in, epidemics of disease being infrequent here.

Thud of pigskin and the cries of football fans soon will alleviate first pangs of youngsters' pains in going back to school; and as the year's scholastic work progresses, boys and girls who will be Princeton's leading citizens tomorrow will fit into the pattern of modern education... and the wheels of progress will have turned another cycle.

Good luck, School Butter!

WASHINGTON DAY BOOK

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—Senators and congressmen are traditionally better talkers than listeners. (Drop into the galleries some day.)

There is one fellow, though, who goes up on Capitol Hill frequently, and when he does, members of Congress listen!

Few men in Washington get such undivided attention — and respect — from congressional audiences as does Gen. George Catlett Marshall, chief of staff of the United States army.

A little more than a year ago, President Roosevelt gave this tall, soft-spoken, graying soldier a promotion over 33 of his senior officers.

In doing so, he elevated to the post a man to whom three chiefs of staff before him (Pershing, MacArthur and Craig) referred at various times as a great soldier.

Although not without precedent, the promotion also gave this top army post to a man who was not a graduate of West Point. But no man came out of the army college as a professional soldier.

Graduate Of V.M.I.

"Puck" Marshall was born in town, Pa., 60 years ago. He was graduated from Virginia Military Institute with honors 21 years later. A year that he was commissioned lieutenant in the United States army and his varied (but consistently successful) military career was way.

But Marshall it off without a word of complaint against those responsible. Marshall was graduated with single demerit, senior captain in class, fifth in scholastic standing, an all-southern football tackle.

There is another story that serving in the Philippines, he was a second lieutenant, he followed field orders that were later by his general as the best plan defense of the islands that he had seen.

Dip 6 veal chops into the dressing and broil them or cook for 15 minutes in a small amount of fat placed in a frying pan. Turn frequently to allow even cooking. Serve with broiled tomatoes, corn on the cob, a green salad, a melon or some frozen or gelatin, dessert and you have a distinctive meal that's not been difficult to prepare.

Frontiers Disregarded By Alsatian Weeds

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—Any wind from Alsace and the Vosges is an ill wind for thousands of Swiss farmers. War drove Alsatian and Vosges farmers away from their fields after the 1939 harvest and they couldn't get back for 1940.

What once were rich fields now are forests of weeds, going to seed. The winds waft the seeds for miles, with no regard for frontiers. Farmers all over northwestern Switzerland are fighting a losing battle against weeds in hitherto immaculate fields.

Blacktop Roads For State Parks Planned

Pennyrile Forest Reservation To Be Improved This Year

The building of at least 3.3 miles of blacktop roads through the government reservation in northwest Christian county, known in recent weeks as Pennyrile Forest, is planned in connection with a State program for park improvement during the current fiscal year, it was learned today.

The Associated Press was told at Frankfort that two or more miles of blacktop would be built in the reservation on the Christian county side of the line and 1.3 on the Hopkins county side. The reservation at present has nothing but gravel roads.

The State Park highway program also calls for the construction of the first blacktop road through Jefferson Davis park at Fairview. This road, expected to circle the monument, will be approximately a half-mile long. It is in Todd county but only a few hundred yards from the county line.

The Frankfort office of Bailey P. Wooton, State Park director, said more than the scheduled two miles of blacktop will be built on the Christian county side of the Dawson reservation provided the United States Soil conservation and local WPA workers will cooperate in the program.

Presidents James Monroe and John Tyler both were buried at Richmond, Va.

"Build-Up" Relief Explained to Women

A simple method has saved many women a lot of suffering! It is based on the fact that headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain are often symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

Help for this condition so often follows the use of CARDUI, because it usually increases the appetite and the flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion and helps build physical resistance. Usual result is less periodic distress.

Many who take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time" have found this helps ease periodic discomfort. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

Five Pitchers Crowding Goal of 20 Victories This Season

Associated Press Feature Service

Goal of all pitchers is a 20-game winning season. A year ago four pitchers from each major league achieved this feat—Bob Feller of Cleveland, Red Ruffing of the New York Yankees, Dutch Leonard of Washington and Buck Newsom of Detroit in the American league and Curt Davis of the St. Louis Cardinals, Luke Hamlin of Brooklyn, and Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer of Cincinnati in the National.

This season only five tossers appear fairly sure of hitting the 20 figure, unless others put on a late stretch spurt. Pace-setters up to Aug. 25 were: Cleveland's Feller with 22 and 7 and Al Milnar with 15 and 8, Detroit's Newsom with 15 and 2, Cincinnati's Derringer with 16 and 11 and Walters with 17 and 9.

Others with outside chances are Washington's Leonard with 13 and 12, Chicago's Passeau with 15 and 11, Cleveland's Al Smith with 13 and 5, Philadelphia Phillies' Hugh Mulcahy with 12 and 12, and Brooklyn's Whit Wyatt, perhaps the National league's "hottest" pitcher now, with 13 and 11.

Ruffing, with 12 and 8, Hamlin, with 7 and 6, and Davis, now with Brooklyn, with 4 and 5, are far off form.

Potatoes Pay in Several Counties

Seventy-nine Whitley county members of the Cumberland Falls Potato Growers' Cooperative Association sold 208,000 pounds of early potatoes. Most of them report profits, says County Agent Wilmet Carter. G. G. Teague made about $300 from 3 1-2 acres.

Laurel county potato growers report a profit of almost $1 a hundred pounds. Howard Dixon planted 800 pounds of potatoes and dug 200 bushels, with a profit of $95.

In Clay county, John D. Hoskins produced 113 bushels on three-quarters of an acre, at a profit above cost of seed, fertilizer and labor of $71.

Literary Guidepost

By John Selby
"Engines of Democracy," by Roger Burlingame (Scribners; $3.75).

It is the fashion at the moment to retell history in terms of something specific—of oceans, of rivers, through the eyes of special groups, such as the inhabitants of a given state of the Union. Roger Burlingame's habit is to do it in terms of technologies.

The first result of his urge was a book called "March of the Iron Men," in which he labored to show how the States had been united by such developments as the steamboat, the telegraph, the railroad and a number of industrial inventions and techniques. Today there is a second book which tells the story of American development from, approximately, the War Between the States to the present. "Engines of Democracy," he calls it, and it is both valuable and fabulously interesting. There are those who may insist that invention and improved techniques follow, rather than lead, such a development as ours, but certainly a writer may choose his viewpoint and defend it if he wills.

What this reader found most useful in the book is the research Mr. Burlingame has done into the origins of certain epochal inventions—the electric street car, for example, the incandescent light, the linotype, the airplane and a good many others. This research has not only put these matters into reasonable perspective, but done a certain amount of debunking. Mr. Burlingame is careful, for example, not to deny the service to the world of Thomas Alva Edison. But credit for the basic inventions which make possible electric rapid transit has gone to Edison wrongly, he finds, and so the name of Frank Julian Sprague emerges as one of the early inventive worthies and we are all better served.

Mr. Burlingame has a bright eye for the oddities of his story.

Gesundheit!

KING OF THE SNEEZES—that's what they called Ralph Gordon of New York when he won the hay fever sneezing contest at the World's Fair.

too. It amuses him that the machine by which messages can be sent over a wire and emerge in printed form at the end preceded the invention of the typewriter, though he can explain it. So with the odd fact that the printing press was for long many times speedier than the typesetter, so that the whole advance of rapid fire journalism hung for years on the clever fingers of the compositor. So with many other matters.

Mr. Burlingame's field is largely his own, and his audience has the right to question some of his judgements. But it seems to this reader that any man who does not find the book fascinating lacks proper interest in the background of his country.

Kentucky Farm News

Guy Blakeman of Adair county turned 18 tons of lime. He made a square stack, alternating layers of logs and limestone, and then set the logs afire. He is planning to spread the lime a ton to the acre.

Hardin county farmers received 2,011 tons of phosphate in the 1940 agricultural conservation program. Orders now are being taken for next year's program, with five carloads already ordered for early fall shipment.

A. G. Glasscock of Marion county threshed 210 bushels of Balbo rye from 5.65 acres, after grazing it during early spring with 60 ewes and their lambs and six feeder calves. The rye made a poor start last fall but stood out heavily.

Twenty-eight acres of Italian rye grass on the Bel county farm of O. G. Roden attracted the attention of farmers in several counties. He now is planning to sow most of his 400-acre farm to rye grass.

Charles Caldwell of Boyle county tried using vitamin B 1 tablets in the water when setting tobacco, thinking it might stimulate growth, vigor and resistance to disease. Tobacco so treated was 8 to 10 inches higher than untreated tobacco at blooming time.

More than 300 farmers have signed in an electric cooperative organization in Letcher, Hardin, Bell, Knox and Whitley counties. Plans call for at least 600 members and 150 miles of line, it is reported.

Among The County Agents

Ed Taylor, McCreary county, has bought 100 pullets to place in his new model laying house this fall.

Much interest was attracted in Campbell county by demonstrations on how to cull poultry for breeding purposes.

Howard Hook harvested 12 acres of rye grass yielding 650 pounds per acre, on his Breckinridge county farm.

A Powell county sheep raiser, James Hall, sold 16 lambs, and wool from 15 ewes, for $121.

One Girl's Homework

THIS SPARKLING WHITE LACE and black organza evening dress was "home work" for Eugenia Brown, a student in a design school who hopes to have a part in America's promising fashion future. The dress was shown at a benefit for the American Women's Defense Corps.

In Rockcastle county, 150 acres of alfalfa have been seeded during August.

In Casey county many scrub and grade bulls have been sold, and several registered animals purchased.

Plans have been made in Henry county to extend rural electrification lines an additional 50 miles.

Approximately 2,400 tons of limestone were delivered in Magoffin county last month.

Several registered gilts have been placed with Wayne county 4-H club members.

Boone county homemakers have conducted eight home garden tours this year.

One hundred and five Estill county farmers have signed for rural electric service.

Flowering Bulbs Set in September

September is the month to plant the "flowering bulbs" such as tulips and narcissus. They are lovely to look at, and flower before most other plants have even begun to bloom. They may be started in a separate bed, or grouped in with other plants, advises N. R. Elliott of the Kentucky College of Agriculture. Use reasonably fertile soil, in a well-drained area where there is plenty of sunshine. Recommended tulip varieties are Clara Butt, Pride of Haarlem, Moonlight and Faust. Narcissus varieties are King Alfred, Tresserve, Bernardino and Van Waveren's Giant. Within two to three years the bulbs multiply two or three to one.

Corn-Fed Lambs Most Profitable

Corn-fed lambs gained as fast on slightly less feed and at lower cost than lambs fed a grain mixture, in a test at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Thirty bred yearling western ewes were divided into two equal lots and fed identical amounts of alfalfa hay and shelled corn plus what grazing they could get from a mediocre stand of bluegrass.

The lambs from one lot were creep-fed cracked corn, the grain being kept before them all the time. The other lot was self-fed a mixture of 6 parts of cracked corn, 3 parts of rolled oats and one part of pea-sized oil meal.

The corn-fed lambs finished at much lower cost, and just as fast as the group getting the mixture. There was no significant difference in the finish.

Organization Helps

Lacking organization through which farm people could work cooperatively, the Morgan County Farm and Home Improvement Association was formed in Eastern Kentucky. Each community in the county has a council, the chairman of which make up the County Council.

Membership of the county organization, now several hundred, is made up of "every citizen of the county who desires to have a part in the improvement of the farms and homes of the county and who is willing to cooperate with others in obtaining these goals, says the constitution.

More than 600 people attended a summer meeting of the association at a farm where phosphate and other means of improving fertility are being tested. Yandall Wraether, the county farm agent, is ex officio member of the county council.

Blue Ridge Berries Find Way To Market

GALAX, Va. (AP)—Blackberries by the tank-car again have gone from the Blue Ridge mountains to the nation's canneries.

The berries always have grown in this section, but for years rotted on bushes.

In 1935, however, Mahlon Collins astounded residents by offering cash for all the berries they could pick.

The business grew steadily. In 1937, Collins shipped 25 carloads of berries in barrels. Last year he began using tank cars and shipped 17 to New York city alone. The pickers received about $20,000. Pickers receive about 15 cents a gallon or $40 a ton.

DOROTHY COX, A DESIGNER who was first an artist, suggests bright red pinafore over a navy blue frock as a back-to-school costume. The dress is worn by Judith Tuvin, of the radio.

Swiss Plant Poppies, Expect To Harvest Oil

BERN (AP)—Swiss farmers in the Broye valley have planted most of their fields with poppies. Reason: Poppies long have been a source of oil, which is getting scarce in axis-encircled Switzerland.

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—Judge Lewis Brucker sentenced John Toliak to a 90-day tour of mortuaries and hospitals. Charge was speeding.

U. S. Seeks Skilled Aircraft Workers

National Defense Program Demands Expansion of Agencies

The manager of the Sixth U. S. Civil Service district office, Cincinnati, has announced there is a scarcity of applicants for certain highly skilled and technical occupations in the Air Corps at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio. He explained this is an unusual condition which has arisen because of expansion of military agencies in connection with the nation's preparedness program. He emphasized, however, that only persons with technical training in certain lines are needed; there is no shortage of clerical workers, laborers, or workmen experienced in the more common types of trades and skilled work.

Positions for which there is a shortage of applicants are: Aircraft Armament Mechanic, $1860 a year; Aircraft Engine Test Operator, $1860 a year; Aircraft Propeller Mechanic, $1860 a year; Aircraft Electricians, $1860 to $2000 a year; Aircraft Mechanics, $1680 to $2000 a year; Aircraft Engine Mechanics, $1680 to $2000 a year; and Photolithographic Reproducer Helpers, $1320 a year.

It was stated that full information and proper application forms for these examinations can be obtained from the secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service examiners, at the postoffice here.

Power Machinery Digs Farm Ponds

Large tractor-operated machinery has been used to dig ponds on farms in Grant county, Kentucky. The county planning committee listed improved water facilities as one of the important needs in the county's program to develop stockraising. Water shortage has been costing farmers large sums about every year, says County Agent Robert Hume.

SAVE with ICE

Here are three points in which ice is definitely superior to all other methods, or refrigeration. In the first place ice costs less to buy and less to operate. A good, well insulated ice box costs only a fraction of the original cost of a mechanical refrigerator. Second, ice never gets out of order. Third, ice is the ideal refrigerant. It keeps food cool and fresh -- never dries it up! You can save with ice -- and for the best ice, call

Slim the Hip and you fit All

The more work you do the better you should want to look, it's good business.

In many communities Labor day is the time to change to fall clothes. Hence you probably have an eye on the trumpet silhouette or on the straight-slim skirt.

Nor is it enough to have spotless clothes with all threads clipped and buttons in place. It is not even enough for you to have close-fitting hose and clean shoes.

Smart women executives have set a pace for keeping feminine figures in good fashion form.

They've learned in gym classes or beauty schools how important it is to do a one-two, one-two on the bathroom floor often enough to perfect a 1833 wasp waist, a 1939 long-torso and a 1940 pencil-slim hipline.

Not long ago a beauty contest between professional and debutante models sent both groups scurrying to a beauty school gymnasium.

Here's the exercise they preferred for slimming waists and hips:

Lie flat on your back with hands on hips. Put knees together, lifting hips slowly. Lower hips slowly and repeat. The slower the better.

Eddyville Prison Addition Due For Occupancy Jan. 1

Ralph C. Wyatt, the State's head construction engineer, said last week following a visit of Gov. Keen Johnson to the Eddyville penitentiary, the new addition there is expected to be completed by January 1, 1941. It is intended to house 583 prisoners, which will alleviate crowded conditions in the old cellhouses, where more tractable inmates sleep in the corridors. It also will provide a new mess hall.

New Courthouse Dressed for Festival

The Caldwell county house, now under construction, has received its share of val touches. The program was derived from a reluctance of Princetonians anything half-done in decorating the current celebration as a result, the future of the Courthouse, sans raked clean; debris were piled neatly, and given a touch of gala. Work is progressing but with care not to destroy harmony of the bannet town.
